

Yellow warning
Rain & Wind

Between 21:00 Tue 4 Jul 2023 and
06:00 Wed 5 Jul 2023

There is a small chance that heavy rain and strong winds will cause some flooding and disruption on Tuesday night.

What to expect

- There is a small chance that homes and businesses could be flooded, causing damage to some buildings
- There is a small chance that some communities will become cut off by flooded roads
- Spray and flooding could lead to difficult driving conditions and some road closures
- There is a slight chance of power cuts and loss of other services to some homes and businesses
- There is a small chance of longer journey times or cancellations as road, rail, air and ferry services are affected
- There is a small chance that some roads and bridges could close

Further details

An unseasonably deep area of low pressure is expected to bring disruption to parts of continental Europe on Wednesday. For the UK, the most likely scenario is for some heavy overnight rain and strong coastal winds across eastern England, clearing early on Wednesday without impacts. However, there is a small chance that rain will become much heavier for a longer period across parts of east Norfolk and east Suffolk, producing 50 to 100 mm in six hours and bringing a risk of flooding and disruption.

There is also a very small chance of gusts 50 to 60 mph near the coast, which could also cause some disruption.

 Very low likelihood of medium impacts
